

Aztecs, Incas, and the Spanish Conquistadores

American History Database ABC-Clio; search box in upper right; once in search results, in bold → you can see if the source is a primary source (ie: letters, narratives, maps, illustrations) or secondary (ie: reference article); citation at the bottom of entry.

World at War Database ABC-Clio – see ABC-Clio notes above.

History Database Search Facts on File; search box at center of page; once in search results, you can see the type of source in the entry and there are tabs at the top of the list indicating the type (ie: biographies, primary sources, etc.); citation at bottom of entry but needs MLA formatting.

History Study Center History Study Center/ProQuest; search box upper left; search results are divided up by type, there is lots to choose from (ie: Historical Documents, Maps and Reference...); once in an entry, citation link is at the top of the page (“Cite this”).

eBooks Gale eBooks; search box center top; in search results, click on orange article title (clicking on book cover will open whole book); citation will be near the end of the article under heading: “Source Citation (MLA 7th Edition)”.

All databases can be found on this page (via: Skyline Library Page > Databases) and if you need passwords for any of the databases, click on the black star on the main library page (then open the word document).